

WOMEN IN CYBERSECURITY

DUTCH WOMEN IN TECH

Ilse Parra

Security Channel Sales
Manager

Emily van Putten

Principal Cloud Security
Consultant

Femke Cornelissen

Technical Evangelist

Ellen van Meurs

Data Security Specialist

1088 - University of Bologna

In 1678, Elena Lucrezia Cornaro Piscopia, became the first woman to receive a university degree. She graduated from the University of Padua in Italy with a doctorate in philosophy.

1636 - Harvard University

In the United States, the Oberlin College in Ohio became the first institution of higher learning in 1837, allowing women to enroll.

2023 only 19% women in tech positions
(Netherlands)

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

- Women without IT background
- Hybrid sessions
- No cost involved
- Vouchers available
- Access to a network
- Partners involved in the process

We are looking for allies & mentors!

List of Ally Guidance

- Amplify the voices that aren't getting heard.
- Give credit where credit is due.
- Call out bad behavior.
- Listen. Believe. Reflect. Repeat.
- Leaders – Sponsor Women.
- Make room for more communication styles.
- Give and receive constructive feedback.
- Share the office housework.
- Attend a women's conference.
- Leaders – have IC women mentor you.

HOW CAN YOU HELP?

- Become a mentor
- File for the speed meetings
- HR Round table -
- Being an allie

Cybersecurity program for Women

Calling for aspiring women to start knowledge and skills on cybersecurity to change their professional focus.
No IT knowledge required.

IN PERSON AND ONLINE PROGRAM
AUGUST - OCTOBER (6 SESSIONS IN TOTAL)
NO CHARGE INVOLVED

LEARN MORE!
SCAN ME

Article

Introducing a cybersecurity program for women—a pathwa...
Ilse Parra on LinkedIn

As a Mexican woman living in The Netherlands, I have always been passionate about the topic of women's representation in the IT industry. While I was an university student, I gained exposure to my...

Coach Women in Cybersecurity

